Lincoln Park Night-O and Day-O

—Peg Davis

Have fun in town at a local park on June 20 and 21. The entire drive to the meet is on paved road! Come, and bring your friends and family. The Day-O will be the perfect time to introduce newcomers to a fun sport.

Night-O Score-O, Saturday, June 20. Not for beginners. Bring a watch and flashlight. We were unable to reserve a ramada, so look for the Registration Table in the dirt between the volleyball courts and the restrooms.

7:45 p.m. Registration opens.

8:15 p.m. Mass start.

9:30 p.m. Mass finish (but you can come back sooner if you've found all the controls).

Day-O Bird Song Wake-up. Check out the bird sanctuary being set up in the wash on the east side of the park. Orange, Yellow and White courses will be set. This is an excellent meet for beginners.

6:45 a.m. Registration begins.

7:00 a.m. Courses open; beginners' clinic starts at Ramada #6.

9:00 a.m. Last chance to start a course.

10:00 a.m. Courses close. All must return to registration. Control retrieval starts. Volunteers get another chance to find controls.

Questions? Want to volunteer to work at these meets? Call the obliging Peg Davis (628-8985). Courses set by the lovely John Andrews. Vetted by the charming Don Fallis.

Directions: From Kolb Road and 22nd Street, go east about 3/4 mile to Pantano Road (not Pantano Parkway). Turn south and continue about 2½ miles. You will see Santa Rita High School on the southeast corner of Pantano Road and Escalante. Just past the school grounds, turn left into the park entrance.

Fees: $8/individual, $10/team; $5 discount for TSN, PHX, USOF, or SAHC members. Compasses rent for $1. Safety whistles sell for $1. Every person, all courses, all meets is required to carry some type of safety whistle.

Check-In: To insure that all are safe, everyone, whether finished with the course or not, must check in formally at Start/Finish before leaving the meet site.

Newcomers: Go directly to Registration. Ask for instructions and introductory information. To allow time to register before attending the beginners' clinic, arrive between 6:45 and 7 a.m.

Chimney Rock Meet

—Jim DeVeny and Maureen Jamieson

April 19 was a beautiful, sunny, and warm (OK, HOT!) day at this spectacular site. Ninety enthusiastic participants in 58 entries took on the five challenging and superbly set courses (by Jeff Brucker, assisted by Carol Smythe). Congratulations to all participants who persevered through the heat, and we apologize for insufficient water on some of the courses. Our special thanks to Jeff for his time and endless energy setting five distinct courses, with 54 unique controls covering an area of about four square kilometers. Jeff spent over 100 hours on four weekends designing and setting the courses! Also, thanks to Jeff's diplomatic efforts, the target shooters were successfully kept at bay in the area.

Many thanks to course vetters Wilkey Richardson and Jim Hays, who hung controls and ensured their proper placement on the Red, Green, and Orange courses. We thank John Jamieson for assistance in hanging controls on the Yellow and White courses.

Our frantic pleas for help resulted in a great turnout of volunteers. Staffing the Registration and Timing tables were Lois Kimminau, Chris Kraft, Marley Beard, Keith McLeod, Marilyn Cleavinger, GeeGee Larrington, Pat Penn, Margrit McIntosh, Clark Lohr, Mike Huckaby, and Helen Deluga. The Beginners' Clinic was once again ably carried out by President Peg Davis. Let's also not forget Mary English, who quietly every month reorganizes and maintains the sizable amount of equipment needed for the meets.

Control retrieval, a really big job this month, was accomplished by Garey Cash, Judy Bodkin, Pete Cowgill, Mark Parsons, John Maier, Mike Huckaby, Jim DeVeny, Maureen Jamieson, and GeeGee Larrington. GeeGee also came back with pockets full of orange flagging retrieved from the "handrails" on the White and Yellow courses. She also cleaned up a lot of old trash (not ours, of course). THANKS, EVERYONE. We hope no one was overlooked.

(Do you notice the same volunteers over and over? How about some new ones next time? No experience necessary—free training provided—a good way to meet other club members. It's fun, too!)

An added chuckle: Some of you may have seen the "pickup truck cowboys" who drove their macho trucks through the big mud hole early in the day? They came back late in the afternoon for more attempts. The result: a stalled truck in cab-deep water! Where is a camera when you really want one?

For the future, the meet directors are very concerned about the heavy public use of the Redington Pass area. We are really "loving it to death," whether it be by mountain bikes, shooting, hiking, orienteering, four-wheeling, or swan-dives over waterfalls. There are notable amounts of trash and empty shell casings along any road. What will it be like 10 years from now if the present access policy continues? Should this area become a state or national recreation area with an appropriate fee structure to support its administration and to preserve its qualities for the future?

Copper Canyon Pays Dividends at Chimney Rock

—John Maier

One week before the Chimney Rock event found Mike Huckaby and me hiking out of the depths of Copper Canyon in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico. It was over 4,000 feet of elevation gain in just four miles from river to rim. Just to see the trails that the Tarahumara Indians of this region use gives you a hint of why they are world-class ultra-marathoners.

For the previous week, we had been exploring the Rio Urique and were often hard-pressed to cover four miles in a day. A significant factor was that our 1:50,000 scale maps didn't show enough detail to allow us to make informed decisions as to which way to navigate among the house-sized boulders that were often blocking our passage. Nor did it show the numerous wall-to-wall pools that needed to be waded, swum, or floated.

The adventure left me with bulging calves that didn't return to normal until two days before our event. And those muscles above the knee cap that you use for clambering over washing-machine sized rocks will probably require several more weeks to recede.

Other than Copper Canyon, I had no conditioning prior to the Chimney Rock event. In fact, the week between the two was mostly spent recovering from the first. I planned to run my Red course conservatively, avoiding climb whenever possible. For me, the navigation was fairly easy; prior familiarity with the terrain helped. I knew to use cattle trails for contouring to avoid unnecessary climb and brush. It was really the physical challenge that worried me.

As it turned out, it wasn't the hills which caused me difficulty. It was the flat areas in the second third of my course. My mind wanted me to go faster on this easy terrain, but my body, with water molecules deserting at an ever-increasing rate, said no. It wanted to rest in a nice shady spot.

I began to think that Jeff was running some sadistic experiment (no water until #7) to see how water loss affects mental clarity and physical performance. The answer is that if you keep running hard, you're setting yourself up for errors and greater dehydration. I slowed down till reaching my water control.

Finally I faced the big climb at the end. Whereas at Copper Canyon, I traveled upward at a snail's pace, here I cruised at a fast walk. Often when climbing at the end of a physical course, I find myself battling cramps. Not this time. Thank you, Copper Canyon. Beats the StairMaster hands down.

Discovery: In copying controls for retrieval, I noticed gross misregistration of the blue on my map. Although it didn't affect my run, it could have others. It is most flagrant on the southern part of the map where washes are shown on hillsides and water is adjacent to cattle tanks instead of in them. Hopefully, this is merely an isolated printing error, but if we have a bad batch of maps, the printer should be notified of this unacceptably large error. Check Race Track Tank on the southwest part of your map to see if you had a good or bad copy. If the water is next to the tank, an earthquake is not the cause; printing error is.

The Mogollon Rim ROGAINE

—John Maier

As those of you who registered for this event found out, we had to switch our site with less than two weeks to go. I had waited till the last minute, hoping that the original site would open in time. It was not to be.

Arriving on the Mogollon Rim 11 days before the event, I found our original site inundated with snow-melt. Numerous drifts of 1 to 2 feet would keep this area soggy even if the roads did open in time. It took the best part of a day to investigate alternate sites, choose the best, and get a Forest Service fast-track approval. So different (easy) to deal with Forest Service districts that are not close to population centers!

For the next two weeks, the Mogollon Rim was my home, except for the two days when I returned to Southeast Arizona to make the maps and pick up the "O" equipment. My days were 10-20 hours long out of necessity, but in the end it was worth it.

Sixty controls were spread over 60 square miles of terrain. I had the satisfaction of knowing that course design did not suffer due to lack of time, the satisfaction of knowing that competitors would face difficult route choice decisions. The site was a real winner, vast expanses of open Ponderosa pine forest with picture-perfect campsites. Our base camp, located centrally, was one of these. [We should use areas like this for summer weekend O events, perhaps doing them jointly with PHXO. Both our clubs would benefit.]

The orienteers who attended this event came from far and wide. All were enthusiastic about the site. Many expressed surprise that we could pull off such an excellent event in view of the last minute change. Comments were all positive, with many saying they look forward to our next ROGAINE in these parts.

Of course, this event could not have happened without the concerted effort of volunteers, committed volunteers. Lois Kimminau handled the registration of over 100 entries. Bev Parks got the information posted on the O-Net, which greatly facilitated its dispersal to non-TSN orienteers. Head chef Mark Parsons, with Ron Ingram's assistance, came up with a feast of steaks and chicken, beans, chili, various salads and appetizers, sodas, beer, etc. Another production followed in the morning. Now how does Mark plan it so that, come the end of the event, 95% of everything is gone without having run short of anything? What's your secret, Mark? Thanks for doing a really big job.

Peg Davis handled many essentials, especially urgent phone requests from me up on the Mogollon Rim (e.g., "Peg, can you buy these topos for me? Store closes in two hours. It'll take me five hours to arrive, and I NEED to start on the maps tonight.") She also kept busy on the phone and e-mail so 107 entries could learn of the change of site.

Mary English greatly facilitated my job by having everything ready for me and in highly organized fashion (as usual); she also accommodated my late and inconvenient Tucson arrival time. So these are the heroes who took care of the essential jobs, making it possible to pull off this event in grand style.

Other help made it easier to administer and conclude the event—results tabulation, control retrieval, etc. Club volunteers who made a difference include Helen Deluga, Jeff Brodsky, Jeff Brucker, and Carol Smythe. I'd like to give special recognition to non-TSN volunteers who stayed to help with control retrieval or helped in other ways. Thank you, Sharon Crawford-CO, John Pascal-NM, Mal Harding-OR, Steve Hoge-AZ, Shirley Donald-BC, and Terry Ryder-KS (but soon to move to Tucson), and Jim Plant-CO. I apologize if I've overlooked anyone. Please know your help was appreciated.

The last controls were retrieved 2½ days after the event ended. Yup, big job.

A few high points and low points of this event for me were: seeing elk on a daily basis, almost tripping and falling on an elk carcass, seeing a wild turkey take to the air, seeing a black bear and her two cubs overhead in a Ponderosa pine, getting two inches of snow in an hour as I was flagging points the Sunday before the event, getting so much mud clumped on my bike tires (after the snow melted) that I couldn't even push it!

Yeah, the Mogollon Rim ROGAINE was fun. Let's go back again, SOON!

Greasewood Park in May

—Marley Beard

Our Early-O on May 17 at Greasewood came with overcast skies and slight breezes making the increasing thermometer not too noticeable. Heat certainly did not hamper a turnout of staunch orienteers. There were many newcomers who tried one course then went right back out on another, and sometimes yet another. The Trail-O was a challenge to all who tried—no one scored them all!! Peg Davis did a wonderful job setting all the courses; there were compliments off and on all day. One newcomer asked that I specifically thank the course setter (Peg!), all the volunteers, and TSN for operating these events and giving people the opportunity to learn orienteering; praises were high; thanks go to everyone.

One hundred and five people came out to the meet, many in teams—and the majority came and went before 11 o'clock. Everyone was off the courses before noon. Control pickup started early as runners came in off courses. My apologies to "Lost in Space" who found the control punch gone at their last control on the Yellow course; it turned out to be a joint control with the Orange course and I did not catch that when the pick-up started.

Since most of you left by 11:00, you missed the cloud of bees that passed overhead. A group of us watched (and heard) an amazingly large swarm of bees on a definite northwesterly course. I think a few of us held our breath and the words killer bees were mentioned...but we doubt it. Fortunately, whatever they were, they were not the slightest bit interested in Greasewood.

Many thanks to all the volunteers; you make the meets go so smoothly! The Registration Table was worked by Ted Norris, Marilyn Cleavinger, Kay Mathiesen (who also made a run for more maps), Ann Haber, and Cathy Gaskins; the Timing Table was worked by Mike Huckaby, John Andrews (who needs to come more often), Don Fallis, and Katy Brown; special thanks to the last minute control and punch collectors, Gilbert and Daniel, Ann Haber, Pat Penn, and Max Suter; also, thanks to Mike Thompson who volunteered but didn't get to collect since everyone came in early—we'll get you next time. And a second thanks to Cathy Gaskins and Katy Brown for helping me pack up the gear. (I was home by 1 o'clock.)

If there is enough interest, separate training for course setting can be organized. Directing a meet consists essentially of setting up and supervising the Registration and Timing areas, with help from other volunteers. Teams of two are encouraged.
